Boston in New-England, June 25.

ON Wednesday last the 20th Currant, arrived here the Sloop Ipswich from Annapolis-Royal, in whom came Arthur Savage, Esq; Secretary of His Majesty's Province of Nova Scotia, from whom we have the following Account.

ON the Twelfth of this Instant June, being a Passenger on Board the Sloop Ipswich Capt. James Blin Commander; left Annapolis-Royal, bound here. The Master of the said Sloop having a Fishery at Passamaquadda, we put in there the 13th, to supply them with Necessaries, as he informed us. About five a Clock in the Morning anchored in Otter Cove, about six the Master with two Hands, and five Passengers, viz. Hibbert Newton, Esq; His Majesty's Collector for the Port of Annapolis-Royal, in Nova-Scotia, his Child, Mr. John Adams, jun. my self, and Servant, went on shore to a French House called Old Dunboys, where were about 10 or a Dozen French, who pretended much Respect and Friendship for us. We had not been a Shore above an Hour or thereabouts, before as many Indians from the Woods came down upon us to the Water-side, where we were all together (except the Child) with the Fishery aforesaid. The Indians at first feigned Friendship, some of them assisting in spreading the Fish; but in a few Minutes the others surrounded us: One of them talking to Capt. Blin, took hold of him, he beginning to struggle, asked what was the Matter; upon which we were all of us immediately seized upon by the Indians, saying we were their Prisoners, that there was War, and if we made any Resistance they would knock us on the Head, for they had Orders for what they did from Monsieur Vaudriol Governour of Canada; that they had taken at St. John's a few Days before an English Sloop George Lynam Master. We informed them there was no War, and that they were imposed upon, and urged for our Liberty, but was refused; they then led us up to the aforesaid House, where was their Chief Sagamore. In the mean time one of the Sloop's Crew, and my Servant, who slipped from the Indians, made their Escape on Board in the Boat, alarmed the Mate Mr. Francis Frederick, a Boy, and two French Passengers, with the News of our Misfortune, who got the Sloop in a readiness to Sail. As soon as the Indians had secured us in the House they fetched in several Hatchets, most of them drawing their Knives; then held a Consultation. We pleading all that was possible for our Ransom, offering them a considerable Present in Goods: All which were refused, they saying the Sloop and all her Cargo was theirs, and that we must go to Canada; the Sagamore demanded how many Men were on Board, was answered Five, he said he would have them all on shore. Upon which I offered my Service to go with two Indians in a Birch Canoe on board to fetch them; at last with a great deal of Difficulty obtained leave. We went part of the way together: The Indians being afraid, returned ashore, and sent me off alone. At the same Time three Canoes of Indians lying by the Water side demanded the Men from on Board. In paddling off I overset the Canoe, and was very near being drowned, when I was taken up by the Boat from the Sloop. As soon as I had got on Board and delivered my Message, the Mate said he would lose his Life before he would deliver up the Sloop. After we had advised what was proper to be done, the Wind and Tide favouring our Design, the Mate cut the Cable, and came to Sail, and got safe by all the Indians to the River's Mouth, where a Canoe with two Frenchmen belonging to the Shore, and the French Lad who we had left behind, followed us, we shortened Sail and let them come up; the Lad came on board the other delivered the Mate a Note or Order from Captain Blin, for some English Goods to a considerable Value, which were sent a-shore by them; immediately they returned again, and demanded more, without any Order in Writing, saying the Captives were by the Water-side, and would be sent off presently. We advising thereon, the Mate made them Answer, that he would deliver no more Goods before the Captives were delivered, then he promised they should have whatsoever Goods were on board that should be agreed upon between Capt. Blin and the Indians; telling them withal, he would stand off and on with the Vessel two Hours, if possible; the Weather looking very dirty, that if they did not come in that time he would be gone. Upon which they went a-shore. We tarrying about three Hours, no Canoe or Boat appearing, the Fog coming in very thick, it beginning to blow hard, and the Tide of Ebb near spent, were obliged to put to Sea for the Safety of the Vessel and Cargo, making the best of our Way for Boston, where we arrived the 20th of June, 1722.
